157. MARY ATKINSON was indicted for feloniously stealing, on the 8th of January, four yards of printed cotton, value 12 s. the property of Richard Birchall and Henry Wilding , privily in their shop

RICHARD BIRCHALL sworn.

I am partner with Henry Wilding ; on Monday last, between the hours of twelve and two, a man came with a remnant of printed callico, wishing to know whether it was our's; I told him it was our's; I knew it for several reasons, by the pattern, the quantity, and a particular mark which was on it; the young man took it back; I saw no more of it till I saw it at Justice Hyde's; on the same day, I believe about two, I saw the prisoner, where there was taken from her by one of the runners at that office, a quarter of a yard of Irish, which she had bought at my shop that morning.

Was it in your presence? - Yes.

WILLIAM GATES sworn.

I live with my brother, the corner of Leicester-square; the prisoner about Monday last, the 8th of January, came into our shop; our young man waited upon her; I suppose she staid there a quarter of an hour; as she was going out of the door I perceived at the window from the door when she opened it, something under her cloak, that I thought appeared rather large; I immediately leaped from the counter and pursued her into the street, and stopped her, three doors distance from our door; I told her I suspected she had something more than was her own; she immediately said, she had no goods belonging to us; she immediately came back with me, and when she came into the shop, I looked withinside her cloak, and she pulled out this piece; I sent to enquire whose it was; mean while he prisoner made a stroke at some boys that were playing, and she ran away; she was overtaken in Bear-street, and taken to Justice Hyde's; I gave her to the care of the clerk, and on returning home I found it belonged to the prosecutor.

(The piece produced and deposed to by Mr. Birchall.)

Gates. I know it by a figure.

Generation 1 (con't)

Mr. Peatt, Prisoner's Counsel. I presume you know you have lost a piece of that quantity? - Most certainly.

But you do not know it by a deficiency of stock? - We have not taken stock since.

See original Is that figure that you say you know, a small figure? - Yes.

Can you swear to a small figure on a piece of cloth? - Yes.

WILLIAM WATERS sworn.

I belong to Mr. Hyde's office; I searched the prisoner, and found a quarter of a yard of cloth in her pocket, which the gentleman said, she bought of him; that is all I know.

WILLIAM LLOYD sworn.

I am shopman to Mess. Birchall and Wilding; I served the prisoner with a quarter of a yard of Irish the same day; I cannot swear to the piece; I am sure of the woman; as to this piece of callico I have seen the pattern at our house; there is not the least doubt but it is theirs.

Do you know that that is their property? - I cannot say, because I did not see the woman steal it.

THOMAS HOWELL sworn.

I was shopman at the prosecutors a week preceding that time; I had left him just before.

Was that piece of callico when you left the shop Mr. Birchall and Wilding's property? - To the best of my knowledge it was; I measured it the week before; this is my mark; but I do not know whether it continued in the shop after I left it.

Mr. Peatt. Could you have known that to be your masters property, if you saw it at another shop in turning over a multitude of pieces, without any impression of a theft on your mind? - In all probability there might be more of the same.

BENJAMIN TANKED sworn.

I am in the prosecutor's shop; I know this piece of printed callico perfectly well.

Is it your masters property? - Yes, I believe it is; I know it by the pattern; this was the only piece of the kind we had in the house when we took stock.

How lately before the time it was taken away had you seen it in the shop? - Not more than half an hour, I had it in my hands; I do not know that any body was in the shop before I missed it from that spot, except William Lloyd ; I believe I was in the shop during the whole of that half hour; I did not sell it to any body; there was nobody in the shop but the prisoner, till the remnant came from Mr. Gates's.

Lloyd. It was upon the counter when the prisoner came in; I cannot say what part of the counter; I observed it about eleven or twelve o'clock.

How many persons might come into the shop from the time you saw it to the time you served her with the Irish? - There might have been some.

Notes for Elizabeth HUBBARD:

Notes for John CROOK:

From Gary Crook, August 2008:

"It appears that they lived together for about a year prior to their marriage and John being a shipwright left for England aboard the Admiral Cockburn (sailed 1 March 1820 as per journal of Lachlan Macquarie) as a crew member probably the ship's Carpenter in 1820, the day after he was married to Elizabeth, she had moved in to John's family home in Sydney and was living there when John left, but she only stayed for about ten days and then moved in with a man who she worked with at the house of Robert Cooper, bearing one child to him by the time John returned 14 months later. John immediately took out a ad in the Sydney Gazette stating that he no longer was responsible for any debts incurred by Elizabeth, and she went on to have another child by the man she was living with and then another by a man in Bathurst, making 3 altogether and none being related to John Crook. I have found no divorce proceedings so they probably did not get divorced and in 1828 when John died in Liverpool after being kicked by a horse the local ex Police Commissioner of Liverpool, William Ikin paid the money to bury John as he had expected to retrieve the cost's from John's property, but animals and other were being taken it appears by Elizabeth Hubbard as she had been to a Magistrate and as his wife was given everything as John had not left a will, but William Ikin then contacted the Crook family and they took the matter to Court and the result was that Henry (Johns younger Brother) was placed as the Administrator. He then sold John's goods and Chattels and home at Liverpool; how the proceeds were disposed of is not known at this time but it appears no attempt was made to repossess anything that Elizabeth had taken and William Ikin got his money and also bought John's house it appears which was adjacent to the St Lukes Church and his headstone still exists in the Pioneer cemetery at Liverpool.

William Ikin sold up in Liverpool and Sydney and moved to Maitland area about the same time as Henry Crook so they may have become friends, William had built a boat at Liverpool and as Henry was also a Carpenter maybe that was the association in Maitland ,

Strangely that due to William Ikin doing something to a nephew of Johns (Alexander Ikin aged 10 and Williams nephew and John's sisters child) there was no love lost between John and William and John was going to do something to William which ended up in Court along with John's mate John Duggan (maybe the Wild Colonial Boy in the song) so maybe John's death was not accidental.

I have the name of the father of the first two children of Elizabeth which in 1828 census were Edward 6 and Mary Ann 4 these were the children of John McMahon the third child Thomas 1 was from the Bathurst man who's name is unknown Elizabeth named all children as Crook or Crooks, Elizabeth at the time 1828 also lived with her father at a lodging house in Elizabeth St.

I hope I have been of some help to you.

also I have some on William Hubbard and family but the site on the web called Lynne and Grayems Australian Family Genealogy may be of help but don't take to much about John Crook as I placed it there at the beginning of my research.

12. Sarah COOK-3(Harriet HUBBARD-2, William HUBBARD-1) was born on 20 Nov 1829 in Nepean River, Windsor, NSW^[56]. She died on 13 Aug 1901 in City Hotel, King & Bent Sts., Sydney^[57]. She married George BOSHELL on 22 Nov 1844 in Port Macquarie, NSW^[58]. He was born on 14 May 1819 in Dublin, Ireland^[178]. He died on 18 Oct 1890 in Caledonian Hotel, 19 King Street, Sydney^[179].

Notes for Sarah COOK:

From the notes of Michael Tyne 2011: "Following the death of her husband, George Boshell in 1890, Sarah Cook became the publican of the Caledonian Hotel in King St, Sydney where she held the license from 1892 to 1899. She then took on the license at the City Hotel in King St where she died in August, 1901." and "Sarah in particular, is a bit of a puzzle. Her death certificate lists her parents as Benjamin and Sarah, which is almost certainly incorrect. Yvonne Jackson (descendant of Sarah Boshell's half-sister, Rachel Cook) and her husband Rex Toomey have been kind enough to offer the following explanation;

"It is most likely that the informant on Sarah's death certificate (the son, Francis Boshell) didn't have any idea of the history of his grandparents. This stems from the fact that on the death certificate of Sarah's father, William Cook (whom we feel confident is the father of Sarah), major mistakes were also made.

To start with, William Cook married twice, first to Harriet Hubbard and secondly to Ann Kearns. The children of the first marriage were born between 1821 and 1835 and Sarah was one of their children. Unfortunately, Harriet Hubbard disappears from the scene between 1835 and 1837 and despite numerous searches, no record of her (or her death) has been found.

Around 1837 William Cook started living with Ann Kearns because there was no termination of the first marriage. William and Ann produced another 13 children. Interestingly, they married on the 18 October 1853, possibly to legitimise the children up to that date (or did they finally find out what happened to Harriet?). Of further interest was that they came to Sydney to marry - they didn't marry in the local Kempsey Church which may have started a lot of tongues wagging.

Our Rachel Cook was one of the children from the second marriage, and she married George Henry Avery, and it was he who was the informant at the death of his father-in-law William Cook in 1874. The question here is why didn't George Avery mention the second marriage on the death certificate when in fact he only mentioned the first wife who had not been heard of for 40 years?

Descendants of William HUBBARD

Generation 3 (con't)

Why didn't he mention his own wife's mother, Ann Kearns?

So the bottom line is it seems the Boshell family didn't have a clear idea who their grandparents were hence it is reasonable to assume that a similar type of error has crept in on the death certificate of Sarah.

Another line of thought may be that as Sarah was a daughter of the first wife, she resided with or was raised by her older brother Benjamin Cook. This information may have been given to her son Francis.

As an aside, the Boshell family was reasonably well off when Sarah died and they may have wanted to hide the fact that Sarah was descended from a convict forebear on both parents! Food for thought"

She died on 22 Sep 1940 in 31 Osborne Road, Manly, Sydney^[178].

Notes for Emily Louisa LEWIS:

Notes from Lyndal Astor: "Emily was homeless in later life and lived with Madeline in Osborne Road, Manly which had been bought by Uncle Charlie Lewis for Madeline, Amy and Daisy" Lyndal's notes also include "Judy Jarmen writes" "Emily had little experience of housework because the hotel staff helped in the home as well as the hotel. The 4th child Madeline was born in Balmain and Amy in Cooma followed by Daisy in 1880. The family was together until 10 April 1890 when William died at age 45 years. He had been very successful and left Emily reasonably well off. The eldest Thomas William then married Amy Hagley in August of that same year, at St. Stephens Church, Newtown.

A marriage is recorded of Emily to Eli Augustus Shannon in March 1892. The marriage didn't last and Mr. Shannon managed to take with him the wealth of the family and left Emily penniless. She then returned to Sydney with her younger children Madeline, Amy and Daisy - they were sent to their Uncle Alec and Sarah who were childless and lived in Booth St., Balmain."
